What we cover

- Where AI fits. Pick a task worth trying from your audit or intake. We say when AI won't help.
- How AI works. Models, tools, agents, and costs in plain language, with evidence kept separate from hype.
- Using it well. Clear instructions and context, checking facts and sources, and reusable prompts and templates.
- Putting it to work. Research, repeat work, prototypes, visuals, and documentation, with a person reviewing what matters.
- Using it safely. Confidential data, provider settings, bias, copyright, and review rules.

What you leave with

- ✓ Summary and next steps
- ✓ AI and tool guide
- ✓ Prompts and templates
- ✓ Safe-use rules
- ✓ Tested starter workflow
- ✓ Metrics to track

Common questions

Is my business data safe?

The workshop uses sample or approved redacted material, and nothing connects to your live systems.

Do I need to be technical?

No. It starts from your business and explains AI in plain language.

Will you build it?

Yes. A separate quote covers design, build, connection, testing, launch, and handoff.

What AI can do for you

Research

Find, compare, and summarize information, like suppliers or options, with sources you can check.

Routines

Save time and mental energy on repeat tasks like sorting requests and preparing summaries.

Creation

Move products faster with prototypes, mockups, visuals, and documentation you can refine.

Try one business task using sample or approved redacted material.

Business and AI experience

- Knows business. Over 10 years in software, including prior work used by Amazon, Toyota, the FAA, and over 2,500 hospitals.
- Builds with AI. Strata's sales assistant drafts updates from meeting notes; a person approves them.
- Careful with data. Earlier work met SOC 2, ISO 27001, FedRAMP, and HIPAA requirements.
